Walraven RSWB

The Walraven RSWB is the perfect alternative to using wooden noggins for mounting electrical boxes, conduit and pipework in stud walls and floor joists.

Features and benefits of the Walraven RSWB

- Extendable bracket for faster mounting of electrical boxes, conduit and pipework
- Can be fixed to wood or metal joists
- Shorter version expands from 10-16" (25-40cm)
- Longer version expands from 16-24" (40-60cm)
- Quicker and easier to install than traditional methods
- Can be set at multiple depths
- A lightweight product made from high quality galvanised steel

Install in 3 easy steps

1. Supplied in connected pairs, simply snap the brackets apart.

2. Slide the brackets together to the required length.

3. Bend the fixing plates along the markers, if required, for multiple depth settings.

For faster mounting of electrical boxes and conduit

The Walraven RSWB has become hugely popular with electricians for fixing electrical boxes and conduit within stud walls.

The bracket allows maximum flexibility for positioning and provides a strong, easy to install surface onto which the services can be fixed. Gone are the days of finding and cutting pieces of timber, these brackets are ready to use straight from the box saving valuable time!

Electricians who have used the Walraven RSWB told us:

"The Walraven RSWB has quickly become an essential part of our first fix process"

"These are a time saver in every way!"

"So easy to use and versatile"

"A revelation!"

Pipe fixing has never been easier with the Walraven RSWB

Plumbing and heating engineers have recently discovered the benefits of using the Walraven RSWB. The 10-16" bracket is perfect for floor joists and non-standard stud spacing. Simply screw the pipe clips straight in. Used with our self-closing Walraven starQuick® clips, pipe fixing can be even faster! Take a look at our Instagram page, walraven_uk, to see examples of how plumbers are using the Walraven RSWB.

Plumbers who have used the Walraven RSWB told us:

"This is so handy for using in floor joists for running pipes through under floors"

"You won't regret getting these. I ordered 20, then after using one I ordered a whole box for the van!"

"So much more convenient and better looking too"

"These are a game changer!"

Fix with Walraven starQuick®

The fastest way to secure your pipework to the RSWB is with the Walraven starQuick® self-closing clamp. Simply push the pipe into it and the clip will lock around the pipe. Press down again to easily unlock if required. Find out more at walraven.com/en/starquick
